Headline:
Thursday, mostly dry with sunny spells. Light winds.

Today:
Any overnight mist and fog patches short-lived. Dry with sunny spells through the morning. Isolated afternoon showers developing, but not as heavy or widespread as Wednesday, with many parts staying dry. Feeling pleasantly warm, with light winds. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly dry overnight with some clear spells. Some patchy low cloud may affect North Sea coasts, and perhaps across some hills. Winds staying light. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Friday:
Some patchy low cloud may linger near the coast. Otherwise, sunny spells with scattered showers developing in the afternoon. The showers should then die out again in the evening. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Remaining unsettled, with a mixture of sunny spells and heavy, thundery showers throughout. Low cloud perhaps lingering along North Sea coastal areas, especially on Saturday. Temperatures mostly near normal.
